I wasn't sure how to prove that all of them ran, especially since some of them we were supposed to just copy something into the file itself, but everything ran for me except the last cookies section. I will ask you about that in class.